Hi Misty,

Here's a quick rundown of what we've been up to this week:

Follow Their Lead

Young people across America are showing extraordinary leadership in the movement to end gun violence — and it was a privilege to join tens of thousands downtown on Saturday for the March for Our Lives.

We may be hearing lot of talk about the power of the Second Amendment, but our young people are showing how powerful the First Amendment makes us — because they are unstoppable when they speak up and speak out. This day will be written about in the history books, and their children will read about a generation that stood up to the gun lobby and said, 'Enough is Enough' and 'Never Again.'

Homeless Services Job Fair

L.A. is coming together to end the homelessness crisis, and there are more than 1,000 new jobs to fill — from case managers and outreach workers to housing navigators, supervisors, and executives — that will help people in desperate need get off the streets and into homes. We're hosting a job fair to connect Angelenos with career opportunities and a chance to transform lives. Register now!
